Professor Bloomers No-Nonsense Spelling Program

Learning How to Learn, Increasing Memory and Sequencing through Spelling

Bloomer's Books Professor Bloomer peels away the frills of our modern educational system and presents a set of straightforward teaching methods in his new book, Professor Bloomer's No-Nonsense Spelling Program. These methods include learning both factual knowledge and the mental processing skills necessary for success. If you're a parent, teacher, or other concerned adult responsible for the education of a child, Professor Bloomer's book will help you teach a young learner how to learn, making future learning easier and more efficient. This no-nonsense program will not only help your child become a better speller: • It will enhance the child's basic reading skills. • It will help the child increase his memory. • It will enhance the child's sequencing skills—the skills of ordering ideas and things, essential for organizing thoughts and solving problems. Reading, writing, spelling, and learning problems have been Dr. Bloomer's focus for over half a century. He successfully applies scientific neuropsychological principles to help youngsters learn to read and spell, and he's developed prescriptive treatments for those with unique learning and attention problems—techniques he shares in this easy-to-follow guide to help children succeed both in school and in life.

The Role of Letter-Speech Sound Integration in Typical and Atypical Reading Development

Frontiers Media SA Fluency is the quintessence of effective reading. To obtain socio-economic success, fluent reading is of primordial importance and reading is considered a crucial marker of an individual's life course. Approximately 5% of children are affected by developmental dyslexia, exhibiting inaccurate word recognition, spelling, phonological decoding, and most importantly, severely dysfluent reading, which remains as their most characterizing and persistent deficit. Unable to attain society's literacy demands, individuals with dyslexia are at severe risk for adverse academic, economic, and psychosocial consequences. Recently, it has been posed that the development of automatic letter-speech sound (LSS) integration is critical in the acquisition of fluent reading skills, and in particular that a failure to develop automatic LSS integration results in an impairment of reading fluency. In support, neurocognitive research has suggested that the development of automatized processing of LSS associations is an essential step in the formation of a functional neural network for reading. Furthermore, both neurocognitive and behavioural studies have suggested a less efficient LSS integration in children with dyslexia than in typical readers. Finally, results from intervention studies have suggested that training LSS might be a promising approach to ameliorate dysfluent reading in children with dyslexia. Nonetheless, there is still a considerable gap of knowledge in our understanding of the mechanisms by which learning LSS associations relate to (dys)fluent reading.
